

ROADHOUSE STORYTELLERS ®

September 19, 2018 7:00-9:00 PM

Pittsboro Roadhouse Cafe

STRONG WOMEN TELLING STORIES ABOUT STRONG WOMEN!

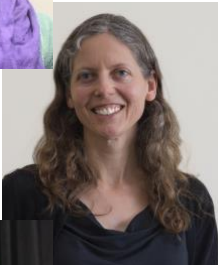

Beginning at 7:00 PM, five master storytellers will entertain you at the renowned Pittsboro Roadhouse on US 64 in downtown Pittsboro. Plan to get there by 6:30 to order your dinner and first round of drinks before the stories begin. There is no cover charge (!!), but there will be a tip bucket. The food, drinks, and stories are always superb. What a night in historic downtown Pittsboro!

Claire Vera Ramsey (claire@storieswithclaire.com) has always loved telling stories. A librarian and former president of the North Carolina Storytelling Guild, Claire believes storytelling helps people value one another. Her stories of strong women make her case!

Sarah Beth Nelson (<http://voxfabularum.com/>) is a doctoral student in the School of Information and Library Science at the University of North Carolina, as well as a professional and fringe storyteller. A strong woman herself, Sarah Beth has worked in public school libraries.

Amy Sayle (amysayle@gmail.com) controls the universe (a simulated version of it, anyway) at Morehead Planetarium and Science Center, and tells as many stories about the stars as she can. Tonight she tells stories of strong women from the Cherokee, Alutiiq, and Monache traditions.

Barbara Lott (barbarajlott1265@gmail.com) began telling stories when she was sixteen years old. She paints pictures with words, so people can see her stories. She is enjoying telling more now that she has become a stand-up comedian. The stories she tells tonight are true life stories.

Lona Bartlett (<https://www.lonabartlett.com>) is a storyteller, puppeteer and educator. Her degrees in education and small town upbringing in the Catskill Mountains open a gateway to a long list of presentations. No matter the genre, Lona loves bringing excitement and insight to the stage.

Sam Pearsall (SamStories.org) the event's emcee, is the producer of Roadhouse Storytellers. He's a retired ecologist who grew up on screened porch stories, and has been telling stories all his life. Sam's motto: With every good story, the further in you go, the bigger it gets.

The next Roadhouse Storytellers® event will be on November 14, 2018 at 7 PM. Don't miss it!
